King County Sheriff's Office 5-Year Strategic Plan 2009—2014

Letter from the Sheriff

King County is the state's largest metropolitan county, spanning more than 2,100 square miles with a population of more than 1.8 million citizens. The Sheriff's Office serves over 575,000 people every day, roughly ¼ of the total population of the County. The Sheriff's Office is the primary law enforcement agency for our 12 contract cities as well as all 250,000 people living in Unincorporated King County.

We strive to maintain the highest level of professionalism in serving our customers, while protecting the citizens of King County and making public safety our top priority. Our core values of leadership, integrity, service and teamwork serve as a guidepost to everything we do.

Approximately $65.7 million of our total budget comes from contracts and grant revenue. The remainder of the budget comes from the general fund. In 2009, we had to eliminate 85 positions, with additional reductions proposed for 2010. It is increasingly important for the Sheriff's Office to strategically improve the business practices within the confines of limited resources.

Our contract cities will continue to receive the same level of service despite any reductions in funding. But, it is equally important to recognize our role as both the local and regional police agency for citizens living outside of city boundaries.

To be successful now, and in the future, we must move forward with a comprehensive strategic plan. This plan will help guide future decisions and inform stakeholders of how the Sheriff's Office core values relate to our business initiatives. The plan is a culmination of a long process of developing the Sheriff's Office vision, values and mission.

The Strategic Plan is a living document which defines priorities for future actions, including goals, objectives and strategies. The goals are the heart of the plan, because they describe the end result toward which all efforts are directed. The objectives and strategies, although not an exhaustive list, further define the direction provided by the goals. Together they provide the guidelines for future decisions about the nature, scope and priority of actions which are necessary to carry out the Strategic Plan.

The Annual Review and Update will:

- Measure the progress of the Strategic Plan against the Vision, Goals and Objectives.
- Consider new information that may affect implementation of the Plan.
- Identify possible impacts on the community that may require revisions to existing priorities or the creation of new strategic priorities.
- Review the goals, objectives and strategies and revise them if necessary to accommodate the changing needs of the community and the Sheriff's Office.

This is an ongoing process. The strategies must be adaptable to the changing environment. The Sheriff's Office annual updates, performance measures and a business plan will let us know whether we're on track. Community involvement is critical to this process. We will continue to work with you to enhance our services and support your public safety needs.

Sincerely,

Sue Rahr, King County Sheriff

Capital Improvement Plan

The King County Sheriff's Office operates from nearly 25 locations around the county. Operations within divisions are fragmented and work out of different locations. The Administration section of the department is located in the Court House in downtown Seattle. The Operations Division Chief is located in the Court House while the precincts are scattered in four different locations. The Criminal Investigations Division operates out of the Justice Center in Kent and the downtown Seattle Court House. Special Operations is located in several different locations at the King County Airport, two Metro Facilities, a Sound Transit facility, Carillon Point in Kirkland and the Ravensdale Range. The Technical Services Division is located in the Court House, at the Communications Center and at the Property Management warehouse.

Multiple locations complicate the coordination of police services to the community. It also hampers the effective utilization of personnel and resources. The Sheriff's Office is embarking on a process to determine the feasibility of consolidating its operations to one central location for a better use of resources, while using "satellite stations" in our contract cities.

Like all government agencies, The Sheriff's Office fuel costs have risen in the past year. Fleet costs are being evaluated and strategies put into place to reduce the impact of high fuel costs.

Officer Safety is a high priority in the Sheriff's Office and good equipment is an essential part of Officer Safety. Replacing safety equipment is done on a replacement cycle recommended by the manufactures. Replacements are done on a rotating basis so that not all equipment is replaced at one time.

Facilities:

- Centralize major Sheriff's Office Operations
- Locate storage for helicopter and other specialty vehicles
- Move property room to accommodate the increasing amount of property
- Assess the Stossel Creek storage bunker for future use
- Range maintenance and remodel

Vehicles:

- Move to a more fuel efficient fleet
- Implement a replacement cycle for specific specialty vehicles

Technology:

- Replace Records Management System
- Install attendance/scheduling software
- Upgrade employee technology tools
- Update storage area networks
- Upgrade laptops on the replacement cycle
